by Ann Gilbert

AUGUSTA — Members of the 102nd Legislature, last week moved through their 16th week of work, holding general sessions every day, but accomplishing not too much.

The highlight of last week came by way of committee hearings when the long awaited bill to create an Allagash Wilderness Waterway was heard by the Natural Resources Committee.

State officials, landowners, conservationists and guides all backed the bill; however, their views were split on some of the proposed details involved in the proposals.

Cross Rock Supporters Oppose

Opposition came from supporters of the Cross Rock Dam proposal on the St. John River. This power plant would flood the Allagash River.

Malcolm Stevenson of Bangor, representing the Maine Power Authority, that seeks to build the Cross Rock Dam, said that the dam "was in the best interest of all the citizens of the state." Mr. Stevenson added that the Cross Rock proposal would flood and change the present contours of the river producing a body of water he called "Grand Allagash Lake."

James M. Pierce of Houlton, chairman of the Citizens Committee for the Maine Power Authority, told the committee that Cross Rock would produce millions of dollars a year in revenue for the state.

Lawrence Stuart, director of the Park and Recreation Commission, which would manage the area, called it "a magnificent sportsman's paradise which has been praised through history" and called the bill "a practical and workable approach to state control with a minimum expenditure of public funds."

Land Owners Back Allagash Bill

Ben Pike of the Association for Multiple Use of Maine Timberlands backed the bill also, only raising issue over the proposed prohibition of use of motors saying that banning them would work a hardship on many people who prefer to go up the river instead of down.

Attorney Robert Jalbert of Fort Kent speaking for Allagash guides, said many of them need to use motors to make the upriver trip. Also, he added, that there are many legal problems in the proposed legislation.

The bill, which had been redrafted at the 11th hour, is sponsored by Sen. Sidney D. Maxwell, D-Jay, and was outlined by Attorney General Richard J. Dubord, as chairman of the Allagash River Authority.

Also Thursday, in other activity, House Republicans who have succeeded in blocking almost every major Democratic party proposal this session, indicated that they may compromise on a voting age reduction resolve.

An amendment to lower the voting age from 21 to 20 instead of the original 18 was adopted with a 86-57 vote, nearly enough votes for a two-thirds majority needed for final passage.

Presidential Primary Favored

Also, rejecting an unfavorable committee report, the House accepted and gave initial approval to a bill to create a presidential preference primary in Maine. This bill, sponsored by Rep. Rodney E. Ross Jr., R-Bath, would have Maine hold a primary the same day as New Hampshire's first-in-the-nation election. The roll call vote was 76-65 in favor.

Enacted in the Senate Thursday were measure to allow the Health and Welfare Department to require testing of all newborn children for the presence of defects which may result in mental deficiencies.

Also, another which would authorize Maine's participation in a New England Welfare Compact to make welfare services available among the compacting states.

The House, on the same day, enacted a bill which would have Maine hold its primary election on the second Tuesday after Labor Day, instead of the third Monday in June.

Sweepstakes Proposal Rejected

Friday, the House gave initial approval to a savings bank law revision bill which would allow savings banks and other lenders governed by the same restrictions, to make loans on leaseholds, thus allowing them to make loans for construction on leased land, such as ski areas on land under long-term lease.

And, two more sweepstakes proposals were defeated in the House, leaving only the so-called "voluntary contributions" lottery still alive.

A measure which was opposed by both large and small boat-builders at a public hearing Wednesday, received initial Senate approval Thursday. The bill would exempt from the sales tax, materials for boats being built for delivery outside the state.

Marking another defeat for the so-called "drys" an unfavorable committee report on a bill to determine the cost of the liquor business to the state was accepted in the House without debate, killing the measure.

A bill to give judges discretion in the amount of fines for overloading trucks received preliminary House approval over the objections of Rep. Paul R. Huber, R-Rockland.

Council Buys Two Trucks, New Cruiser

The Town Council met for three hours and 15 minutes Monday night, the longest public session in many months, and during the course of the evening awarded several contracts.

Buy Two Trucks

Two trucks were purchased for the highway department, and it was in accepting these bids that the Council ran into time-consuming problems. Council was anxious to buy the best truck possible for the least money, and admittedly, without any great knowledge of trucks.

Four bidders were seeking to sell the Town a two-wheel drive dump truck, and the same number offered four-wheel drive dump truck. After considerable deliberation, the Council approved a bid of $5,980 from Houlton Motors for a two-wheel drive GMC, and a bid from Ralph L. Berry of $8,600 for a four-wheel drive F-800 Ford.

Bids Are Varied

Confusion arose over the bids for the smaller trucks, with three of the bidders offering to accept a 1957 International truck with dump body in trade, and the fourth, Houlton Motors, offering to accept the trade without the dump body. Town Manager Walter Benson said the highway department wanted to keep the dump body on the truck being traded in, and that the dealers were to have been notified orally of this change in the bid specifications.

The other three bids were $6,428 from Hogan and Smith for an International, $5,950 from Ralph L. Berry for a Ford, and $6,715 from J. K. McKay for a Chevrolet.

Council agreed to buy the low bid from Berry in order to retain the old dump body. It was said the value of the dump body could be as high as $200 or $300, and that there was only $30 difference between the Berry and Houlton Motors bids.

Council acknowledged that it was, in effect, not adhering strictly to the written specifications as supplied to the bidders.

Lowest Bid

The bid by Ralph L. Berry for the larger truck was the lowest received for trucks fulfilling the specifications desired by the Town. Houlton Motors had submitted a bid of $8,797 for a GMC, Hogan and Smith a bid of $9,118 for an International, and N.A. Burkett Inc., a bid of $10,994 for a FWD.

The Town is trading a 1954 Ford as a trade-in on the larger truck.

Other bids received were handled with comparative ease.

Buy Police Cruiser

Council accepted a low bid of $1,549 from Eastern Motors for a 1965 Dodge Coronet, special police four-door sedan, for a new police cruiser, with its '62 Pontiac cruiser in trade. Other bids were $2,222.43 from London Motors for a Mercury, $2,119 from Allied Sales for a Plymouth, $2,156 from Ralph L. Berry for a Ford, $2,093 from J.K. McKay for a Chevrolet, and $2,495 from Houlton Motors for an Oldsmobile.

The Barrett Division was given a contract to supply the Town with tar for the coming year. Its bid was 15.99 cents per gallon, as compared with the only other bid received, 17.75 cents from Coppers Co., Inc. The amount of tar to be used will be determined as the summer progresses, Mr. Benson said.

Borrow $425,000

The First National Bank of Portland was awarded a bid for the loan of $425,000. This is the amount the Town needs to carry on its business between now and the time tax dollars start to come in next fall. These temporary tax anticipation loans are annual obligation.

The Portland bank submitted a bid of 2.25 per cent interest on the loan. The First National Bank of Boston offered a discount of 2.45 per cent, and discounts of 2.5 per cent were submitted by the State Street Bank and Trust Company of Boston, and the National Shawmut Bank of Boston.

In its only other public business, Council appointed Harold Adams to the Civil Defense police force.

Elks Seek $2,000 For Miami Trip

A $2,000 goal has been established by the Houlton Lodge of Elks as the sum needed to send its New England championship ritualistic team to the national competitions at Miami, Fla., this July.

The Lodge is conducting its fund drive within its own membership, and hopes to be able to send the eight-man team to Miami. It will be the first time that a Maine ritualistic team has ever competed during the National Elks Convention.

Canvassing of the more than 350 members of the Lodge was started yesterday, and will continue during the next several days.

The Lodge already has $800 pledged towards its $2,000 goal, and has scheduled a dinner-dance this Saturday to further benefit the fund drive. Dinner will be served at the Lodge at 6:30, with the dance to music of records played by Al Robertson at WHOU to follow. The dance is for members and their guests.

New Building Planned By Nazarene Church

The Rev. Philip Huff, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, said that a contractor is being secured for the construction of a new church building.

A decision to relocate from the present building on Upper Main Street to another section of Town was made following a meeting of church trustees with the Rev. Joshua Wagner, district superintendent of the Maine District Church of the Nazarene.

Mr. Huff said services will be conducted regularly in the present building until the construction program is underway.

HOSTS TO ROTARY CONFERENCE — The Houlton Rotary Club will be host next week to the annual Assembly and Conference of District 781 of Rotary International. Attending will be representatives of the Rotary Clubs from throughout Northeastern Maine and the Province of New Brunswick. Checking plans for the three-day session are, left to right, Harold Inman, acting district governor, Houlton Rotary Club President Walter Burlock, and Robert Maxell, general chairman. The Assembly and Conference open next Wednesday evening at the Northland Hotel.

Concert Series Lists Evening With Paris Chamber Orchestra

The Houlton Community Concert Association will open its annual drive for membership for the 1965-66 concert season May 3. Community Concert Association's New York representative will be at the Northland Hotel the campaign headquarters, every day from May 3 to May 8 to explain the Association, answer questions and assist workers in selling memberships.

Present plans call for at least a three-concert season next year and a goal of four concerts has been set. Officials say this can be accomplished only by increased membership in the Houlton Association to give a larger budget with which to schedule the performing artists. Accordingly a slight increase to $8.00 was given adult annual membership with students prices staying the same at $3.00. Any new member signing up during this spring drive will be entitled to attend, as a bonus, the last concert of this season May 5, The Revelers, an outstanding male quartet.

Already scheduled for next year is the Paris Chamber Orchestra, a 15-member orchestra of young musicians who have been given highest praise wherever they appear. At least two more concerts are scheduled, on new members, hopefully three more can be added for this low membership fee.

Below is a list of workers from whom a membership may be purchased.

Biologists Speak At Annual Fish And Game Club Meeting

Ken Warner, fisheries biologist from Ashland, and Francis Dunn, game biologist from Easton, were the guest speakers Monday at the annual meeting of the Houlton Fish and Game Club, held at Al's Restaurant.

Mr. Warner spoke on the various reclamation projects the club has done in the past, and of some that are being contemplated. When asked about the feasibility of a fishway in the Drew's Lake dam, he replied that the part of the stream just below the dam is a natural spawning area and is heavily populated with small salmon which cannot get back into the lake without a fishway.

Mr. Dunn spoke on the wintering problems of deer and of how the Fish and Game Department conducts their winter checks. He also told the present status of the caribou herd, and of the various methods used to trap the partridge that were used to trade with Newfoundland for the caribou.

During the annual election of officers, Lawrence Haggerty was chosen as president, with Ed Lewis as vice president, and Gene McIver as secretary-treasurer.

Beverly Colter was presented with a rod and reel, given as a door prize.

The next meeting of the club will be in August to plan for the chicken shoot.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:
I have just heard on television about minors getting alcohol by means of men buying it for them. How low can a man get?

Just recently a man was sent to jail for 30 days for buying alcohol for a minor, which means that in just 30 days he will be out to ruin other boys. It is the adults who are ruining the teenagers. They talk about having liquor stores too close to this place, or that place but what does a half mile mean, or a mile, if they can find the source to get it.

I say give a man like that 10 years in jail, and if a teenager is found with liquor, confine him to his home for not less than a month.

Parents hear these things and see those things, and it goes in one ear and out the other. They don't really do anything, in fact they make it worse. They let a boy 15 to 18 get a license and let him have the car. He finds other boys, and sooner or later they find one who knows of a man who will buy them beer or alcohol, and that is when the trouble starts. And whose fault is it? The adults.

I think a judge should have more power in sentencing men like that.

Stock Car Racing Scheduled At Caribou Oval This Summer

A stock car racing oval is scheduled to open in Caribou by mid-June, and a week from this Friday night persons interested in driving, building or servicing cars for the races have been invited to a special meeting at the Caribou airport. This special meeting on May 7 is scheduled to begin at 7:30, and in attendance will be Bob Knowles, owner of the Unity Spud Speedway.

Mr. Knowles will be one of the owners of the new Spud Speedway that is being constructed on the Access Road in Caribou, just west of the west gate leading to Loring Air Force Base. He is being joined in the venture by Wayne Sui, a Pittsfield contractor.

Mr. Knowles has been associated with Unity Raceway since it was first opened 18 years ago, and is regarded as one of the outstanding experts on stock car racing, and in the promotion of these races. He has announced that the racing at Caribou will be scheduled each Sunday afternoon throughout the summer, and that the racing will be strictly for stock cars.

Just what constitutes a stock car will be explained and demonstrated for interested parties at the special meeting a week from Friday night.

One-Third Mile Oval
Spud Speedway will be a one-third mile oval, covered with hot top, and according to the promoters, should be one of the finest of its kind.

Concert By Virginia Sayre Meets With Warm Response

Virginia Sayre, mezzo-soprano, presented a concert of vocal music in the Putnam auditorium of Ricker College April 21 to a small but appreciative audience. Assisted by Muriel Howard at the piano, Mrs. Sayre gave an enjoyable and varied program which began with a group of early songs by Marcello, Pergolesi, Gluck and Durante.

Her second group comprised Mozart's lovely song, "The Violet," two songs by the great lieder composer, Schubert, and Tchaikovsky's "Farewell, Farewell" from Joan of Arc. Particularly outstanding to this listener was the Gluck song and Schubert's "Der Doppelgänger."

Mrs. Sayre possesses a rich and vibrant voice which she uses with taste and musicianship. Throughout this demanding first part of the program, the singer was at all times in good vocal control, at all dynamic levels as well as range, and in addition was always concerned with the musical meaning of each song, using her voice to that end and not for mere display.

Her diction was excellent in the three languages involved: Italian, German and French, and in addition, Mrs. Sayre accomplished with taste as well as charm the frequently difficult task of giving a brief resume of the text prior to singing each song, thus succeeding in greatly increasing audience enjoyment.

Mrs. Howard brought the first part of the program to a close with Chopin's brilliant Scherzo for piano in B flat minor. Here, as well as in the demanding accompaniments, Mrs. Howard showed herself to be a sensitive pianist and musician. There was always concern for phrasing, dynamics, tone quality, and the meaning of the music as a whole.

Following the intermission, Mrs. Sayre returned in a colorful costume from the island of Flores in the Azores, to present four brief, but delightful Portuguese songs, after which she concluded her program with Dvorak's song cycle, "Gypsy Songs." The group includes seven songs of varying moods and colors, the most well-known being the familiar "Songs My Mother Taught Me."

Here, as throughout the program, the singer and her accompanist were in excellent rapport, not only with each other but also with the music itself. Particularly expressive was the third Dvorak song, "Silent the Woods so Lone and Still."

Mrs. Sayre responded to her enthusiastic audience with the encores "Seguidilla" from Carmen by Bizet and Schubert's famous, "Serenade." One can only regret that a larger audience was not present to hear a concert of so fine a caliber. Marjorie Lovett.

TIPS from Ruth Extension Agent

Spring is here and with it comes the task of storing winter clothes. Moths and carpet beetles will destroy woolen fabrics. They will also attack other materials if they are stained with food or perspiration.

No clothing should be put away for the summer until it is cleaned. Garments should be washed or dry cleaned according to fabric content or construction details. In some cases a thorough brushing, being particularly careful for seams, pockets and folds, then airing in the sun will be enough. Be sure to remove any spots.

Clean garments may then be put into clothes bags or boxes and sealed. Except for knitted garments it is usually better to hang garments than to fold them in boxes.

Unless clothing is stored in airtight containers a moth-proofing agent should be used. If a spray is used, do it outdoors or in a well-ventilated room. Do not saturate material.

Moth balls, flakes, and cakes used in closets or garment bags should be hung in bags at top to allow vapor to filter downward. When used in boxes and chests spread between the layers of garments.

Do not use plastic hangers or store plastic buttons where moth flakes are used. They may soften, plastic and harm garment.

Snell Urges Great Care In Burning Of Fields And Grass

The burning of fields of dry grass has already started for this year and great care should be taken in attempting to burn these fields as one of our major causes of forest fires is the escape of these fires to the woodlands where many acres are burnt over each year, says State Forest Fire Warden Luther Snell of Houlton.

Most of these fires can be prevented if the proper fire equipment and manpower are used. These fields should never be burnt over on windy days. Burning is always safest after the wind and the sun has gone down.

Due to the light snow cover this year burning of fields should be done as soon as possible before the snow leaves the woods and great care should be taken in burning around buildings. Many buildings are burnt each year due to careless burning.

A burning permit is required by law except when the ground is covered with snow to burn fields of dry grass, pasture, brush or slash, logs, roots, stumps, clearing land and burning blue-berry land. These permits do not in any way relieve the person who does the burning of legal action if the fire escapes and does damage to the property of another. These permits are issued by only Town Forest Fire Warden's in the Organized Towns. For burning in the Maine Forestry District, or sometimes called the Wildlands, burning permits are issued by the State Forest Fire Warden Service in Houlton, Island Falls, Macwahoc, Weston, Ashland and Washburn. Person's failing to get permits can be fined up to $100 or by imprisonment up to 30 days or both. This law will be strictly enforced so before any burning is done contact the Town Forest Fire Warden in whose town the burning is to be done and he will issue a permit if he thinks it will be safe. These permits can be obtained over the telephone but it is best to see the Town Warden personally and talk over your burning problem.

Listed are the Town Forest Fire Warden's for the Houlton area: W. Clark Bubar, Amity; Martin Burns, Bancroft; H. M. Cates, Finmore; Bridgewater; Glen Putnam, Cary; John Hatch, Haynesville; Dennis Amero, Danforth; Fred Greaves, Hodgdon; Lester Rockwell, Linneus; Glen Henderson, Littleton; Ervin Tapley, Ludlow; Arnot Archibald, Monticello; Laurence Willette, New Limerick; Thomas P. Packard, Orient; Warren Foss, Weston; Bertram Wetmore, Houlton.

Another violation of the law in this area is roadside slash cut by pulp-cutter's, telephone companies, road crews and power line companies. This slash is required by law to be cleaned up for a distance of 50 feet from the edge of the tar or traveled portion of any highway or public road. Any brush or slash cut for the maintenance of telephone or power lines through wooded areas must be removed by either burning when it is safe or hauling it away.

If it is to be burnt a permit is required from the Town Forest Fire Warden unless the ground is covered with snow. If this slash is not disposed as it is cut a 30 day slash notice will be issued by a State Forest Fire Warden. If the slash is not cleaned up in this 30 day period the penalty is up to $100 fine, 30 days imprisonment or both and the offender will still have to clean up the slash.

State Employees Told Advantages Of Credit Union

The credit union and its purposes were explained April 12 during a meeting of the Southern Aroostook Chapter of Maine State Employees Association at Patten.

Richard Russell, manager of the Maine State Employees Credit Union, told of the advantages of saving and borrowing from the organization.

Robert Maxwell, assistant to the executive secretary, spoke on proposed legislation that will affect State employees.

Horace Bell, chapter president, conducted the meeting which was followed by a question and answer period.

Cancer Claimed Lives Of 114 Aroostook Residents In 1964

(Special to the Pioneer Times) NEW YORK—With the designation of April as "Cancer Control Month," special interest centers on the incidence of the disease in Aroostook County. A new report by the Government, just issued, reveals the number of cases in the local area as compared with the number in other communities.

It presents figures, compiled by the Vital Statistics Division of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, for every section of the country. All forms of cancer, including lung cancer, are covered.

114 Deaths in '64 Among residents of Aroostook County, the report shows, there were 114 deaths due to various types of cancer in the year ending January 1, 1964. This total applies to residents only. Excluded are cases involving non-residents.

Lung cancer, which has been under discussion more than any other type in recent years, was responsible for 13 of these, or 11.4 per cent of the total.

Throughout the United States as a whole, lung cancer accounts for 16.5 per cent of all cancer deaths and, in the State of Maine, for 16.0 per cent. Lung Cancer Increasing

The figures show, however, that lung cancer cases have become more numerous in the last 10 years and constitute a serious problem.

As to the cancer picture as a whole in Aroostook County, the official figures show a rise of 2.7 per cent in mortality in a period of four years.

In the same period there was an increase, nationally, of 9.7 per cent and a drop of 1.8 per cent in Maine.

The importance of the war that is being waged on cancer is indicated by the fact that the disease claims the lives of 285,000 Americans a year and keeps another 830,000 under treatment.

Cost About $8 Billion

According to the President's Commission on Heart Disease, Cancer and Stroke, the annual cost of cancer in the United States, counting the diagnosis, care and treatment of patients as well as the loss in wages and productivity, comes to about $8 billion.

Slowly but definitely, however, progress is being made in combating several forms of the disease.

Currently, one out of three victims is being saved, as compared with one out of four just a few weeks back.

Former County Couple To Lead Switzerland Tour

Former residents of Aroostook County, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil A. Beaupre of Hamden, Conn., are accompanying a group of 17 students to Switzerland this summer where for six weeks they will attend French summer school. The campus is located in Leyrain and will accommodate about 400 students who will come from all parts of the United States. Students and their chaperones will be taught by native teachers.

This program is under the auspices of the Foreign Language League in Salt Lake City which operates 16 campuses throughout Europe where students may study Russian, German, Spanish or take courses in Art History and in European History and Culture.

The town of Leyrain is located a short distance from Geneva with the campus offering a striking view of the mountains and the Rhone River Valley. For recreation the students will enjoy the use of a new swimming pool, horseback riding and miles of hiking trails. They will spend their weekends on excursions to the high points of interest in Switzerland—Geneva, Lucerne, Interlaken, Zermatt, Bern, Chillon and Lausanne. They will also spend a long weekend in Paris, making the trip via Pullman from Geneva. The Paris trip is scheduled for the July 4 weekend.

The group is scheduled to leave Kennedy International Airport on June 12 with stops in Gander, Newfoundland and Shannon, Ireland. The return date is July 25.

Mr. Beaupre is a French instructor at the Hamden Hall Country Day school in Hamden, Conn. He is a native of Caribou. Mrs. Beaupre, also employed at Hamden Hall, is the former Mary Jane Gorman of Houlton. Mr. and Mrs. Beaupre own a cottage at East Grand Lake in Orient and will be able to spend some time there upon their return from Europe.

YMCA Workers Told They Face Two Types Of Inflation

"The Y must cope with two types of inflation: the sky-rocketing youth population and the declining value of the dollar", said YMCA Finance Campaign chairman Charles Heath at the kick-off dinner Thursday.

Twenty-three people attended the kick-off meeting presided over by Mr. Heath. Initial Gifts chairman Ray Collett and Business and Professional Gifts chairman John Elliott had their team members assemble for campaign information and inspiration.

Challenges Adults Miss Susan Palmer, local Tri-Hi-Y delegate to the National Hi-Y Assembly in Minnesota this summer, challenged the adults to support worthwhile youth programs such as those run by the Young Men's Christian Association.

The president of Miss Palmer's Tri-Hi-Y club, Miss Mary

Ann Fitzpatrick, told the group some of the benefits she has derived from a variety of YMCA programs. "One of the most interesting Y programs," she commented, "was a weekend workcamp experience in Boston. It was here," Miss Fitzpatrick added, "that I really got a chance to form my own opinions about big city life, including Negroes, slums, and other teenagers."

Reports On Hi-Y Richard Gorham, president of the local Hi-Y, gave a report about his club's activities over the past year. A great part of the success he attributed to the club's new advisor, Joseph Inman. Gorham stressed a need to not only continue the present Y programs in Houlton, but also to finance some new opportunities for high school youth.

Mr. Heath told the group that if they were to reach this year's goal they would have to push a little harder than before. Humorously undermining Mr. Heath's statement John Elliott and G. Donald Adams put on a skit of a horrible solicitation effort. Making amends Mr. Elliott went on to describe more acceptable campaign procedures.

Initial Gifts chairman Ray Collett felt his team could see all of their prospects within just a few days. Comprising the Initial Gifts team were Horace Bell, George Barnes, Lewis Potter, David Abbott, Lois Putnam, Harold Basile, Leo Spain and Harold Inman.

Three Teams Mr. Elliott had three teams in the Business and Professional Gifts division. Captain of one team was G. Donald Adams with workers Thomas Byther, Marcus Russell, Clyde Hiltz and Lloyd Chase.

The second team was headed by the Rev. Robert E. Black with workers Wesley Williger, Roger Bates and Paul Paige. Mollen Putnam served as captain of the third team. His teammates were James Carr, David Flemington, Gordon Duncan and Merritt Lenentine.

False Sense Of Security

Death had a field day in 1964 on American highways.

Last year, according to the annual report of The Travelers Insurance Companies, 48,000 lives were lost on the highways and 3,840,000 persons suffered injuries.

And a look to the future is even more disconcerting. More cars are being added to already congested highways. More miles are travelled each year in automobiles. With this in mind, it is a frightening likelihood that even more persons will be killed or injured in highway accidents.

The American highway system is being enlarged daily, but construction can't keep up with the number of cars being produced. Cars are made to last longer, the post war baby boom has skyrocketed the number of young drivers on the roads, and the young driver is blamed for a greater proportion of the accidents than other age groups.

Driver error, lack of judgment and excessive speed all are major factors in the accident statistics. Fog, rain and snow are becoming less incident to the figures. In 1962, for example, less than 85 per cent of the death and injury producing accidents occurred in clear weather. In 1963 the figure climbed to more than 86 per cent, and in 1964 to about 90 per cent.

This indicates that the driver is beginning to take it easy in bad weather, but at the same time is becoming more reckless in clear weather.

New Cars From Canada

(Daily Kennebec Journal)

Ford dealers in upper New York State will soon be receiving 400 cars a month from Ford of Canada. Chrysler of Canada will build 80,000 cars in 1965 for export to the United States. General Motors of Canada has yet to announce its plans. All of this activity is under the free-trade agreement worked out between Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson of Canada and President Johnson at a meeting on the LBJ Ranch last Jan. 16.

Broadly speaking—with certain very strong immediate reservations on Viet Nam—Johnson and Pearson speak the same kind of political language. Canadian economic and political considerations kept the January agreement on automobiles from being as completely free as the United States might have wanted, but it is freer than perhaps generally it is understood to be. President Johnson on March 31 submitted to Congress a draft bill authorizing removal of all U.S. duties at the manufacturer's level on Canadian automobiles and original equipment parts. The bill also would make auto tariff reductions possible with other nations.

Sprouting Potatoes

It was not too long ago that potatoes were a standard item three times a day. A solid farmer wanted fried potatoes for breakfast along with ham and eggs, toast, strawberry jam, coffee and a ginger snap or two as a tupper-downer.

Perhaps the safety messages concerning fog, rain and snow have gotten across to the motorist. At the same time, however, he has developed a false sense of security in good weather. This false sense of security can kill him.

And it could kill you!

More Controls

Congress has moved to tighten provisions of the Foreign Agents Registration Act of 1938. Having inquired into the ways of high-powered foreign lobbies since 1962, the Senate now has passed, and sent to the House, legislation which imposes stricter disclosure requirements.

The act originally was directed against subversive agents. These have largely given way to manipulators of public opinion whose purpose is to influence U.S. government policies in behalf of their clients.

The measure further redefines activities of persons required to register under the act. It outlaws contingency fee arrangements between lobbyists and clients.

The bill is designed especially to control foreign sugar lobbyists as the time nears for the annual spring sugar quota scramble. In fact, the pending bill was the consequence of disclosures of campaign contributions during the 1962 Senate investigation of a former U.S. government official who became a lobbyist for Philippine sugar.

Gun Ownership Stirs Controversy

By Ray Vernon

Washington is in the middle of another emotional controversy and the lines are drawn for a knock-down, drag-out fight somewhere down the road.

This one has been building since the tragic assassination of President Kennedy and involves the toughest of subjects—the control of firearms.

Arguments On Both Sides

Both proponents and opponents of a stiff gun law have good arguments and it is difficult to see how the dispute can be resolved.

On one side—the gun lovers—is the argument that there can be no question of what the second amendment to the Constitution meant when it said, "The right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed."

And on the other side the argument of the gun fearsers that crime is running rampant in America, helped along by the ease with which anyone can obtain a gun.

Since the Kennedy assassination more than 300 gun control laws have been introduced in state legislatures and in Congress. What is frequently overlooked is that there already are many laws in this area which have been on the books for years.

One man who certainly deserves to be heard on the subject is FBI Chief John Edgar Hoover who says "the easy accessibility of firearms is a significant factor in murders committed in the United States today."

And one must not overlook the statistics: last year 4,590 persons met death by wilful gunshot and 18,000 were injured.

Obviously, there is nothing wrong with making guns available to persons who will use them to hunt, for target practice or simply as a collection item.

But they must be kept out of the hands of criminals, drug addicts, habitual drunkards, juveniles and mental incompetents.

Again Mr. Hoover on the subject, "The public has a right to expect that the distributor and the purchaser of weapons, so deadly and easily concealed as handguns, meet certain regulations and qualifications."

The most celebrated gun law in the country is New York's Sullivan Law which has been in effect since 1911. Law enforcement authorities insist it has helped curb violence but gun lovers claim it is so wrapped up in bureaucratic red tape they are discouraged from wanting to own guns.

Under the Sullivan Law a gun buyer must file a four-page application for a permit to own a handgun. He is fingerprinted and photographed. He must provide three character references. He is interviewed by a police official. He must meet stringent rules for safekeeping of the gun which must remain in a specified location at all times. Finally, the gun owner has to renew his permit every year.

Job Made Tougher

Understandably, this is bound to discourage the average thug from going through such a procedure. So the job of obtaining a weapon is made tougher and he is forced either to steal a gun or buy it at a premium rate.

Despite all we read about the violence in New York City the state as a whole has a murder rate below the national average and robbery is not as widespread as in some other states.

While the Kennedy assassination focused attention on this problem it has been clearly established that no gun law of any description could possibly have prevented the tragedy. The Secret Service insists that there is no real foolproof way to prevent a Presidential assassination through such means as of keeping the President in a bullet-proof, bombproof shelter.

President Kennedy like President Johnson would never sit still for such an arrangement. Even if Lee Oswald had not been able to obtain a gun through a mailorder house it must be assumed he would have got his hands on one in some other fashion.

Listen to Mr. Hoover again, "A readily accessible gun enables the perpetrator to kill on impulse. With no such weapon available, the killer's rage may subside and better judgment prevail. And, too, if the assault is made with another weapon, it may not be fatal, since the victim has a better chance to escape or defend himself."

Have Right To Own Gun

One of the arguments is that no one should be permitted to own a gun, outside of law enforcement officials and others in similar work, of course. This is ridiculous obviously, for every law-abiding citizen should have the right of gun ownership.

There is also the argument that with a national gun registration law if this country is even taken over by a dictator he will seize the files and immediately confiscate every gun in the land. It is also pointed out during the grim early days of World War II British citizens, armed with their private weapons, were ready to take on the Germans if they invaded their homeland. It is possible this might have slowed the takeover but not for long.

Some military men argue that in any future war the foot soldier, with a rifle or gun, will still be the decisive factor. But others say just as firmly that in the atomic war the foot soldier is about as obsolete as a bow and arrow.

The end of the controversy is far from in sight.

The Editor's Corner

Most leagues in town either have or will be winding up their bowling seasons this week, and now is the time for the annual post-season banquets. There are at least four of the banquets scheduled for this week, and more to come.

The Pioneer Times attempts to take photos of top trophy winners at as many of these banquets as possible. Because of the number of banquets involved, and the limited space that is available for publishing the photos, it will undoubtedly be well into May before all of the photos can be published.

So if the picture of your bowling banquet does not appear in the following issue of the Pioneer Times, please be patient. All will be published, just as soon as possible.

Bowling is without doubt the most popular participation sport in the area, with leagues for bowlers of all ages. And it is a family sport. A couple of the bowling families that have had great success this season are those of Wendell Guy and Ken Paradis.

Wendell and his wife Pat have been leaders in their own leagues, and as a team in the Couples League at the Hilltop. Their daughter Wendy is also a top bowler, and had high average in her league at the Bowling Center.

Ken Paradis is the unquestioned king of bowling in Houlton. He is at or near the top in leagues at the Dux, Bowling Center and Hilltop, and his three daughters are following right along. This past week when the trophies were given out for the leading bowlers in the girls leagues at the Center, Beverly, Diana and Janet Paradis were all included.

Another top husband and wife combination, of course, is Ray and Fran Cunliffe. There are others, as Houlton has more than its share of sharp shooting pin-pickers.

Immigration Quotas

Washington, D.C.—President Johnson has asked Congress to liberalize our immigration laws and to end the 40-year-old quota system which favors those born in Western Europe over those born elsewhere in the world.

While hearings have been held in both the Senate and House, the President's proposal has not moved far enough along the legislative path to stir up the excitement that seems likely to result when the bill is understood widely.

Erroneous Belief

One Congressional advocate of immigration reform has given some inkling of what he expects to happen when the word gets around that the bars are to be lifted in part. Rep. John V. Lindsay (R., N.Y.) said "It is a popular but erroneous belief" that reform would open the U.S. to "a flood of slave traders, hashish chasers, coolies, witch doctors, mountain bandits and camel drivers."

He warned that foes of reform would picture the typical immigrant "as an illiterate, cholera-ridden pagan who would either usurp the job of an American working man or go on the relief rolls; who would subsist on fish heads and rice, father 13 children, and refuse to learn to speak English; who would lower property values wherever he lived; who would vote against school bond issues, hoard his money in tin cans, and in his idle hours would run numbers, smoke opium and revive the Tong wars."

Rep. Lindsay deliberately overestimated the case for the opposition but there is a grain of truth in his forecast. There are Americans who believe the present discrimination against Asians, Africans and Orientals is a good thing. This argument is sure to be made before the legislation has run its course.

In the early days, this nation pursued a liberal immigration policy. It was part of our democratic tradition. Many of the 40 million who have immigrated since 1820 came from the United Kingdom, especially Ireland. Another large group came from Germany, others from Sweden and Norway, and some from Italy.

The open door policy helped to populate a vast country. But by 1897, a public cry arose to require a literacy test for immigrants. Three Presidents—Cleveland, Taft and Wilson—vetoed such legislation in the next two decades. It took World War I to get such a law enacted over Wilson's veto.

During the war, legislation was passed barring entry to all from southeast Asia. In 1921, the Quota Act was passed, and it represented a major reversal in U.S. policy. For the first time a ceiling was put on the total number of immigrants.

At first the limit was 357,000 but in 1924 it was cut to 162,000 although several classes of aliens were exempt. The major opposition to immigration was to accepting more people from southern and eastern Europe. Quotas quite frankly favored white Protestants of Nordic origin. Asia got but tiny quotas. The next major immigration law, the McCarran-Walter Act of 1952, passed over President Truman's veto, continued to discriminate in favor of those of Nordic ancestry and is especially severe against those convicted overseas of political offenses under Communist regimes.

The total quota today is about 157,000, of which Great Britain gets 65,361 but uses only about 40 per cent per year. By contrast, Poland gets 6,488, Italy 5,666, Hungary 865 and Greece 308. All of these countries with low quotas have long waiting lists.

Others More Selective

While the U.S. admittedly discriminates against certain aliens, other nations are even more selective. Australia simply bars all non-Europeans, Japan discourages all immigration, Israel seeks only Jews.

Critics of the Johnson proposal point out that the quota limits are not a true measure of immigration, because there are no quotas for Latin America and spouses and children of American citizens are outside the quota limits.

One argument LBJ makes for his bill is the need to import trained workers with special skills in short supply here. On the other hand, his bill would double the quota for Nepal and how many skilled workers can the U.S. figure to find there?

Congress will probably take a longer look at this Presidential proposal than some others.

Sunday Sermon

Going Fishing

Simon Peter said to them, "I am going fishing." John 21:3.

The crucifixion of their Lord Jesus left the disciples shocked and distraught. Peter and six other disciples of Jesus had gathered by the Sea of Tiberias and, no doubt, they were discussing the sad event and trying to decide their next move. Seemingly, as if in frustration and desperation, Peter announced to all, "I am going fishing."

Peter had to break out of the prison of his thoughts and the best way to do it was to return to his former work. There, perhaps amid the familiar surroundings of the water, the boat and nets, he would find a new perspective and a new goal. The Scriptures tell us that the risen Lord appeared to all seven as they fished.

After some uncommon sad-denying event or in the presence of temptation, we ought to go fishing, figuratively. In different surroundings we can keep our hearts and minds occupied with work or service. Those moments in which we concentrate upon our work or the achievement of new goals are as chips from the walls of a self-made prison.

Through the risen Christ, Peter and the others received the strength, energy and the will to continue. The Lord Jesus will do nothing less for us, if we ask him.

Polyram

You need a fungicide that stays in suspension, won't clog spray nozzles. One that mixes readily with water and is compatible with other chemicals you may be using (including sodium arsenite). One that stays put, yet spreads evenly. One you know won't injure foliage.

You need a fungicide that promotes tuber quality. Results in potatoes having higher densities; and a lighter chipping color—at harvest and after chilled storage. Yields more No. 1 potatoes.

Report to MAINE

Senator

Z. J. M. J.

We live in a sea of air. Our life depends on it, and our health is affected by it.

Today, more than 100 million Americans live in cities, and everyday, we become more aware that our sophisticated, industrialized and motorized civilization is poisoning the air we breathe.

Supply of Air Limited

Our supply of air is limited. There is almost nothing we can do to purify it once it is polluted. We must act now to prevent pollution.

We in Maine are fortunate to see little evidence of air pollution. But even in our state there are problem areas and they are bound to grow unless effective legislation is adopted to prevent this.

Last year my subcommittee on air and water pollution held hearings across the country on air pollution. The result of these hearings is S. 306, a bill now pending before the subcommittee. I'm hopeful we'll report out the bill by early May.

During the hearings, we heard evidence from doctor after doctor linking many diseases of the throat and lungs to the dirty air we breathe. It's a matter of public record that heavy smog conditions were the direct cause of scores of deaths in Los Angeles; Donora, Pa.; London, and elsewhere.

Air Pollution Costs

Air pollution is costly as well as unhealthy. It is estimated that dirty air does $11 billion in property damage a year. That's about the same amount of money that the federal government spends each year on debt retirement.

During our hearings, expert after expert told us that automobiles are the largest single source of air pollution.

The principal objective of my air pollution abatement bill, S. 306, is the control of harmful automobile exhausts.

Recently in Detroit, automobile manufacturers told us they have developed the technical know-how to build exhaust pipe devices which can cut the amount of air pollutants from cars by up to 80 per cent.

Provide $100 million

I think we should apply this knowledge.

In addition to calling for devices to control harmful automobile exhaust, my bill would provide $100 million a year to help cities build facilities for destroying rubbish without polluting the air with smoke. The bill also would speed up broad research on the problem.

S. 306 would not solve all our air pollution problems, but it would be a start.

Medicare Bill

The Administration's Medicare bill has moved closer to reality with favorable action by the House of Representatives.

The Medicare bill, which I have co-sponsored in the Senate, has been significantly broadened in the House.

100,000 To Benefit

This means much more protection for our older citizens, who now make up almost 10 per cent of the population. In Maine, this means that almost 100,000 persons 65 and older will benefit from the program. They will be safeguarded against the financial catastrophe of a prolonged illness. And they should receive better health care.

The House bill also increases social security payments an average of seven per cent.

Here's how the medical and hospitalization insurance program would work:

There are two phases, a basic plan and a voluntary supplementary plan. All persons 65 or older are eligible for both phases.

First Phase Free

The first phase is free and automatically covers everyone 65 or older, starting July 1, 1966. Under this phase, each patient receives up to 60 days of full hospital care per illness, with the patient paying only the first $40 of the cost. Also provided is from 20 to 100 days of post hospital care in an affiliated facility for each spell of illness, starting January 1, 1967.

Phase one also provides for outpatient diagnostic services in excess of $20, and for post-hospital health services including up to 100 home visits for each illness.

Phase two is voluntary and costs $3 a month. This phase covers 80 per cent of the costs in excess of $50 of such additional services as physicians' and surgical fees; up to 60 days per illness in a mental hospital; up to 100 home visits per year by a doctor without prior hospitalization; diagnostic tests; x-rays; radium and radioactive isotope therapy; ambulance services under limited conditions; surgical dressings; and rental of durable medical equipment.

Phase two will be administered by private carriers such as Blue Cross-Blue Shield.

Social Security Tax

The basic phase would be financed through an additional Social Security tax applying equally to employees, employers and self-employed persons. Initially, the increase will amount to about 1/3 of 1 per cent of a worker's wages up to a new base of $5,600, as compared to the present base of $4,800. By 1967, the Medicare tax will be 4-5 of 1 per cent of wages. The earnings base will be $6,600 after 1971.

In addition to giving peace of mind to our increasing numbers of persons 65 and older, the Medicare bill will also spare many families and their children the heartache and inconvenience of caring and supporting our senior citizens.

Necessary For Aged

Medicare is especially necessary because persons over 65 are most likely to be sick and least able to afford medical care or private insurance.

Here's a breakdown of the financial picture of Americans 65 and older.

Of the 18 million citizens in this category, more than half have income of less than $1,000 a year. The average for a couple is $2,530.

A third of our senior citizens has no assets at all. Half has less than $1,000.

Finally, people over 65 require three times as much hospital care as younger people, and when they go to the hospital they stay twice as long.

Social Security Benefits Reach $519,115 Monthly

Monthly old-age, survivors, and disability insurance benefits in Aroostook County now top $519,115, Otis B. Harrison Jr., district manager of social security in Presque Isle said today on releasing his annual county benefit data report.

The new monthly figure represents an increase of 1.7 per cent over the corresponding period last year.

"This increase can be attributed to the changes in the law in recent years, as well as to the growth of our aged population," Mr. Harrison said. This money stimulates County business; most of it is spent for food, clothing, and shelter.

"There is no longer any doubt. Social security benefits are helping to stabilize the income and spending power of many residents in Aroostook County."

Monthly benefits first became payable in January 1940, and they have continued without interruption for years, accompanied by a steady growth in the number of beneficiaries. Mr. Harrison noted that as of December 31, 1964, some 9553 Aroostook residents were collecting $6,230,000 annually from social security, an increase of 1.1 per cent over the same date in 1963.

More people in Aroostook County, he said, could draw social security benefits if they knew more about the law, and for that reason they are urged to visit or call the local social security office whenever they have a question.

The other bouquet was given to State Trooper Herbert Joy who is a heart patient at the Milliken Hospital in Island Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Landers Jr. of Farmington were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Landers Sr.

Among courses taken by home economics freshmen at the University of Maine are chemistry, English, human nutrition, and sociology.

WARNING TO MOTORISTS

(and TAXPAYERS)

"It is far more appropriate to be concerned about the safety of the millions of highway users and the preservation of the values of the enormous public investment in the highway system than in assisting those comparatively few individuals and commercial enterprises from realizing the last margin of profit that can be gained from the businesses they are conducting on the public highway system."

The paragraph above was written by Governor Otto Kerner of the State of Illinois in a just-issued 7-page report to his legislature dealing with an extensive study of the effects of trucks of larger width, height and weight which the trucking industry seeks to make legal on the highways in various states, including Maine!

Maine's legislature has just passed a bill which raises the weight limit on tandem axle trucks allowed to operate in Maine from 32,000 to 36,000 pounds. This is two tons MORE than the weight allowed on federally-built highways.

This means these bigger trucks are barred by law from using the newest, strongest, widest and straightest highway in Maine (Route 95), yet are free to operate on the state's older, narrower, scenic coastal and rural highways and town roads. Thus, these roads will be further jammed with bigger and heavier trucks.

This means that private motorists — including thousands of out-of-state visitors on whom our recreation industry depends — will be delayed and endangered, if not completely discouraged, in their use of our coastal and rural highways.

This means that the new Route 95, now under construction between Old Town and Houlton can not be used by these bigger and heavier trucks. But, they will use the narrower state roads in that area of our state.

It also means that Maine motorists will be required to pick up the tab for increased construction and increased costs for repairs of more road damage which these heavier trucks will cause.

Governor Kerner's cautionary letter to his legislature, written after a thorough study of the various tests made by federal experts, also says:

"There are 10,370 miles of highways in the rural Illinois or U.S. marked route system. On these roads speeds of 50 miles per hour and higher are permitted for buses and trucks of over four tons. As two such vehicles approach each other on the highway, their collision speed is 100 miles per hour, or higher. The present width limit of 96" permits two vehicles with a total width of 16 feet, which are speeding towards each other at 100 miles per hour, a margin of error of one foot in each of the two 9-foot lanes comprising an 18-foot pavement. If the width limit is raised to 102" or 8 1/2 feet, the margin of safety in each traffic lane becomes only six inches. Skillful though the professional truck driver may be, not all trucks are driven by professionals."

These same hazards will confront Maine's motorists if the trucking industry succeeds in their announced intention to gain further expansion in various ways from the presently lawful truck dimensions and weights laws.

There are other bills now before Maine's legislature which would enable the trucking industry to extend the size and weight of trucks, and also receive additional benefits in their use of the public highways for the conduct of their private businesses.

If passed, this legislation would increase the benefits from the public purse which freight-carrying big trucks now have in their competition with the railroads. The railroads pay for their own highways of steel. They maintain them, and they plow snow from them — at private, NOT public expense.

This proposed legislation would, of course, be a problem for the railroads.

But, if passed, it will also provide a greater problem to the taxpaying motorist. He stands to lose more.

A FEW STATISTICS

On 14 miles of test roads built at Ottawa, Ill. The Highway Research Board of the National Academy of Science had test drivers drive 120 trucks 11 1/2 million miles.

These tests were made for the American Association of State Highway Officials. After 18 months spent in analyzing the mountains of data assembled in the tests the Highway Research Board published tables showing conclusively that the heavier the axle-load, the greater the pavement damage.

The report said that pavement damage to an 8-inch concrete road from an:

18,000-pound single-axle-load is 5,000 times GREATER . . .

32,000-pound tandem-axle-load is 7,400 times GREATER . . .

34,000-pound tandem-axle-load is 9,650 times GREATER . . .

than the damage done by the 2,000-pound axle-load of the pickup truck which served as the equivalent of the average family automobile.
